

Arizona Impact Summit

solutions for the common good

Convening community leaders to share ideas, discuss best practices and develop solutions for the good of our communities and state. We believe it takes all of us doing our part to make the community whole and healthy. Join us in the conversation.

Monday, April 23, 2012

Arizona State University
Tempe Campus

Day's events will include

- Keynote address discussing the state of our state and critical underlying issues facing communities
- Presentation on making our community whole and the level of collaboration needed to foster this type of change across our state
- Roundtable discussions and breakouts addressing various human services challenges facing our communities
- Networking events and skill building sessions

Join us to discuss and develop solutions to the most critical challenges of our state, and build collaborative partnerships regarding:

Poverty and economic opportunity

Energy and the environment

Health services and healthy living

Education

Disaster preparedness

Veterans and military families

Peace Initiatives

Interfaith cooperation

Who should attend?

The morning program is ideal for leaders. The material will be most applicable to your organization's President, Executive Director, Program Director or Relationship Manager.

The afternoon's breakout sessions will benefit community leaders and individuals passionate about human service challenges, community service and community collaboration. These facilitated sessions are open to the public and free of charge.

Benefits of attendance

- ⇒ Obtain a better understanding of the true state of the sector from those on the front lines
- ⇒ Learn from innovative and inspirational leaders who are impacting our state
- ⇒ Connect and network with problem solvers from around the state
